THE TIMBER

Used in the Construction of the Platform of the Greenback Party--Butler Nominated.

The Sickening Details of a Terrible Tragedy Resulting in the Death of Six Persons.

An Insane Woman Decapitates Four Children and Then is Run Over by a Train.

Butler Nominated.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—The greenback convention closed yesterday evening, after the election of Benjamin F. Butler, of Massachusetts, for president and Gen. A. M. West, of Mississippi, for vice president, They will both accept.

THE PLATFORM.

The following platform, after a strong discussion, was adopted:

1. That we hold the late decision of the supreme court on the legal tender question to be a full vindication of the theory which that party has always advocated on the right and authority of congress over the issue of legal tender notes, and we hereby pledge ourselves to uphold said decision and to defend the constitution against alterations or amendments intended to deprive the people of any rights or privileges conferred by that instrument. We demand the issue of such money in sufficient quantities to supply the actual demands of trade and commerce in accordance with the increase of population and the development of our industries. We demand the substitution of greenbacks for national bank notes, and the prompt payment of the public debt; we want that money which saved our country in time of war, and which has given it prosperity and happiness n peace. We condemn the retirement of fractional currency and small denominations of greenbacks, and demand their restoration. We demand the issue of the hoards of money now locked up in the United States treasury by applying them to the payment of the public debt now due.

2. We denounce as dangerous to our republican institutions those methods and policies of the republican and democratic parties which have sanctioned or permitted the establishment of land, railroad, money and other gigantic corporate monopolies, and we demand such governmental action as may be necessary to take from such monopolies the powers which they have so corruptly and unjustly usurped, and restore them to the people to whom they belong.

3. The public lands, being the natural inheritance of the people, we denounce that policy which has granted to corporations vast tracts of lands, and we demand that immediate and vigorous measures be taken to reclaim from such corporations for the people's use and benefit all such land grants as have been forfeited by reason of non-fulfillment of contract, or that may have been wrongfully acquired by corrupt legislation, and that such reclaimed lands and other public domain be henceforth held as a sacred trust, to be granted only to actual settlers in limited quantities; and we demand that alien ownership of land, individual or corporate, shall be prohibited.

4. We demand congressional regulation of interstate commerce. We denounce "pooling," stock watering, and discrimination in rates and charges, and that congress shall correct these abuses even, if necessary, by the construction of national railroads. We also demand the establishment of a government postal telegraph system.

5. All private property, all forms of money and obligations to pay money should bear their just proportion of public taxes. We demand a graduated income tax.

6. We demand an amelioration of the condition of labor by enforcing sanitary laws in industrial establishments, by the abolition of the convict labor system, by the rigid inspection of mines and factories, by a reduction of the hours of labor in industrial establishments, by fostering educational institutions and by abolishing child-labor.

8. We condemn all importations of contracted labor, made with a view of reducing to starvation wages the working men of this country, and demand laws for its prevention.

8. We insist upon a constitutional amendment reducing the terms of United States senators one half, and making them elective directly by the people; also making the president ineligible to re-election.

9. We demand such rules for the government of congress as shall place all representatives of the people upon an equal footing and take away from committees a veto power greater than that of the president.

10. The question as to the amount of duties to be levied upon various articles of import, has been agitated, quarreled over, and has divided communities for nearly a hundred years. It is not now, and never will be settled, unless by the abolition of indirect taxation. It is a convenient issue, always raised when the people are excited over abuses in their midst. While we favor a wise revision of the tariff laws with a view of raising revenue from luxuries rather than necessaries, we insist that as an economic question, its importance is insignificant as compared with the financial issue; for whereas we have suffered our worst panics under law, and also under high tariffs, we have never suffered from a panic or seen our factories and work shops closed while the volume of our money in circulation was adequate to the needs of commerce. Give our farmers and manufacturers money as cheap as you now give our bankers, and they can pay high wages to labor and compete with the whole world.

11. For the purpose of testing the sense of the people upon the subjects, we are in favor of submitting to a vote of the people an amendment to the constitution in favor of suffrage, regardless of sex, and also on the subject of the liquor traffic.

12. All disabled soldiers of the late war should be equitably pensioned; and we denounce the policy of keeping a small army of office-holders, whose only business is to prevent, on technical grounds, deserving soldiers from obtaining justice from the government they helped to save.

13. As our name indicates, we are a national party, knowing no east, no west, no north, no south. Having no sectional prejudice, we can properly place in nomination for the high offices of state men from any section of the Union.

14. We appeal to all people who believe in our principles to aid us by voice and pen and votes.

BUTLER BOLTED.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—When the nomination of Butler was announced in the greenback convention, the delegates from Colorado and Louisiana withdrew and declined to participate further in the deliberations of the convention, because it had selected a man for its standard-bearer who was not a member of the party, and who was simply an office-seeker. A formidable bolt was informally organized last night, headed by Lee Crandall, of Washington, secretary of the national committee, and George O. Jones, of New York. They say the proceedings were in the nature of a farce, and did not voice the wishes of the masses of the party.

He Took a Drop.

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—William Brown, colored, was executed this morning at Belleville, Ill. The drop was sprung at 10:30. Brown murdered a peddler named Lavigne, a poor, crippled Russian exile, whom he induced to remain all night in his hut, near Cahokia, Ill., February 26. His cupidity had been excited by a display of peddler's wares. He brained Lavigne with an ax, then mutilated the body by chopping it into pieces and burned the head, hands and feet and buried what remained. Mrs. Mary Brown, his wife, is indicted, also, as an accomplice in the terrible crime.

Brown slept a few hours last night and ate a hearty breakfast. Sheriff Rapieget entered the cell at 10 o'clock and read the death warrant. Brown displayed no emotion, although his wife in the cell above could be heard sobbing. The procession then started for the scaffold, where Brown made a short speech, implicating Jackson, another colored man, whom the grand jury failed to indict, but who had been arrested on the strength of Brown's so-called confessions. The culprit was then pinioned and the noose adjusted. The trap was sprung and in eight minutes he was dead.

Three Men Shot.

JOPLIN, Mo., May 30.—Meager information is received of a shooting affray, which occurred Wednesday night, sixteen miles from Grandy, in Newton county, in which John G. Koontz, formerly postmaster, and Nathan Tabor, a merchant of Grandy, were killed by George Hudson, who was himself badly wounded. Hudson is regarded as a desperado, and is suspected of being connected with a party of horse thieves. The shooting is the result of an old grudge.

The Tunnel Accident.

PITTSBURG, May 30.—The coroner's investigation of the Knupp's tunnel accident was concluded last night and a verdict rendered exonerating the contractors from all blame, every precaution having been taken, and the accident found to be the effect of quicksand. The men killed and injured were Spaniards and Hungarians.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Baron Von Stork, the Hessian minister of state, has resigned.

Captain W. E. Dove, of the Twelfth United States infantry, was drowned while attempting to cross to the Canada side from Fort Niagara.

This morning games resulted: Athletics 2, Louisville 7; Brooklyn 5, Indianapolis 0: Saginaw 8, Minneapolis 6; Allegheny 11, Toledo 8; Boston 11, Philadelphia 2.

The Belmont coal mines, in Jackson county, Ala., which were purchased by Grant & Ward from Gen. John B. Gordon, shut down yesterday, throwing several hundred men out of employment.

The office and store of the Wellston mines, in Jackson county, Ohio, were burned by strikers Wednesday night. The Coalton mines were closed about two weeks ago, and their unemployed laborers forced a strike at Wellston.

The Earl of Aylesford became intoxicated at the Derby races, refused to surrender his railway ticket, and struck the inspector at the London bridge. In the struggle which followed, the earl had a leg broken in two places. He has become an international celebrity from his purchase of a cattle ranche in Texas.

Strike on the Wabash at Peru.

Special to the Sentinel.

PERU, Ind., May 30.—2:30 p. m.—At 10:30 this morning the employes in the yards and shops of the Wabash road struck because their wages were two months in arrears. Two hundred and fifty men quit work. They are all in debt for the necessaries of life and find it impossible to longer do without their pay. There is much excitement and business men sympathize with the strikers.

ANOTHER DISPATCH.

PERU, May 30, 3 p. m.—This afternoon the train men struck and not a train save the mail train is allowed to go out of Peru on any of the Wabash roads. Superintendent Stevens is powerless to act.

STILL APPOINTING RECEIVERS.

TOLEDO, May 30.—In the United States circuit court this morning an auxillary bill for the appointment of receivers of the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific railroad, was filed and thereupon Solon Humpherys and Thomas E. Tutt were appointed for the Ohio division.

THE STRIKE AT MOBERLY.

MOBERLY, Mo., May 30.—The Wabash strikers held another meeting last night, and so far as can be learned, they concluded that they had made a mistake by striking and decided to go back to work this morning.

Covered With Flowers.

CLEVELAND, May 30.—Decoration Day is being observed throughout Northern Ohio with the customary ceremonies.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The program of the decoration of the graves, parades, orations, etc., was carried out in this city and Brooklyn. The weather is fine.

AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The weather is cool and breezy, the sky partly cloudy. The circumstances in the highest degree are favorable for out door ceremonies and memorial exercises at soldiers' graves. All the public buildings and banks were closed throughout the day and the private business houses kept closed doors until noon. The principal procession, composed of G. A. R. posts, formed on Ninth and Tenth streets and, headed by the Marine band, marched, at 10 o'clock, via Pennsylvania avenue, to the National cemetery at Washington heights. The procession there disbanded and spent a couple of hours draping graves with flowers and evergreens. At noon the veterans and spectators reassembled at the amphitheater and listened to the reading of a poem by Will Carleton and an oration by Hon. Stewart L. Woodford, of New York. The cemetery was thronged with visitors and the grounds covered with floral tributes. Three or four thousand visited the cemetery.

A Horrible Deed.

ALBANY, May 30.—Last night Mrs. Christopher Schnefer, cut the throats of four little children with a razor. Their heads were nearly severed. The woman seized her nine year old daughter and ran to the railroad and sat down on the rails waiting for the train to kill her. She was found with her head, both legs and an arm amputated. The girl's left foot and arm were cut off and she died this morning.

Fire Record.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The shops of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, just beyond the western boundary of the city, partially burned this morning. The loss has not been ascertained. Two engines from this city were dispatched to the scene.

SHARPSBURG, Ky., May 30.—The business part of town burned yesterday. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $25,000.

A Defaulting Teller.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 30.—It has been discovered that F. H. Cushman, second teller of the Merchants' National bank, is a defaulter to the amount of $5,000. Cushman has fled.

They Have Skipped.

DUBLIN, May 30.—Since the informer, Delaney, gave evidence at Sligo, certain fenians have left for Dublin. Two have gone to Canada.

Failures.

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 30.—Spiegel Bros'. book and gent's furnishing store has been closed by the sheriff on executions amounting to $20,000.

Crushed to Death.

BALTIMORE, May 30.—A terrible accident occurred at the Hooper building, No. 3 South Gay street, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and several persons are known to have been crushed to death. The weight of a large quantity of cotton stored in the building caused its collapse, when the front of the building fell in. Three or four persons were in the counting room and four persons in the shipping office. There were at least fifteen or twenty persons in the front of the store house. The firemen and police are busily engaged in removing the debris in order to get the people out. The crowd around the building and vicinity is so great that it is impossible to get the particulars at present. The body of Mortimer H. Linthicam, cashier of the house, has been found packed in between several barrels. It was impossible to reach him. A man named Kelly and a colored boy have also been found among the ruins. Eight bodies so far have been discovered.

Who Killed Peters?

PITTSBURG, May 30.—A special from Newcastle, Pa., says: Wm. Peters, aged twenty-two, died last night from the effects of a quarrel of three weeks ago. Peters and a man named Kelly had a dispute and in the scuffle, it is alleged, stabbed Peters in the back with a pen knife. Kelly is under arrest but claims he did not inflict the wound.

Democratic Delegates to Chicago.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 30.—The democratic state convention selected the following delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention: P. H. Kelly, R. A. Jones, C. F. McDonald and M. Doran. Though instructions to the delegates were not mentioned, yet every delegate that spoke on the subject was in favor of Tilden, whose name was always greeted with applause.

Solving the Riddle.

PITTSBURG, May 30.—An intimate friend of George W. Rowley, the individual book keeper of the Penn bank, made a statement to-day that the checks of D. Wilson & Co., Hill & Co., and Watson & Co., the mythical firms, were drawn and signed by President Riddle and that the latter represented all these firms. Blind pool lost over four million dollars in oil and that over-drafts on the bank aggregated $1,300,000. Riddle, who at one time possessed $400,000, which was lost in oil. The rumor that the Pennsylvania Protective association is seriously involved by the failure is denied. The association had $4,000 deposited in the bank when the doors closed, but no claims have ever been rejected and they will continue business. Notices have been served on the directors for a meeting Saturday morning to prepare a statement for the members which will be published on the 5th of June.

Gathering at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 30.—This morning's trains brought in the South Carolina delegates and six of the Texas delegates. Beyond a few scattering delegates from Ohio, Kentucky and the arrival of a portion of the Illinois delegates, the above constitutes the only additions made to the few who had arrived during the two proceeding days from New York, Pennsylvania and the National capitol.

For the first time the hotels are taking on the air of activity shown by them for the week prior to the convention of four years ago. The headquarters were opened this morning for the Arthur and Blaine forces, those of General Logan having been in existence for some days. The remainder of the Iowa delegation will arrive to-morrow morning at which time the California delegation will also put in an appearance. The organization of state delegations will begin to-morrow afternoon in the case of those which have a full representation in the city. The weather, which has been cold and raw for the past three days, grew warmer to-day and if the present temperature is maintained it will prove perfect for convention purposes.

The Frost.

PITTSBURG, May 30.—Reports from Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania indicate that severe damage has been done to the early vegetables and fruits by heavy frosts the past two nights. In some sections the ice formed one-quarter of an inch thick. Farmers report corn, wheat, potatoes and tomatoes badly frozen.

TORONTO, May 30.—Frosts again fell last night throughout Canada, doing a great amount of damage to crops.

DETROIT, May 30.—Reports that have come in from all parts show that the damage by Wednesday night's frost was quite serious, although it is still hoped the first statement is exaggerated.

In eastern, central and southern Michigan the frost was severe, cutting down all the small vegetables and badly tipping the corn and even seeming to injure the wheat somewhat on the low lands. The fruit was also badly affected. In the western and northwestern parts of the state, the region of the fruit belt, but little damage was done. The fruit seems to have almost entirely escaped. The weather is now warmer and there is no further damage.

LIVES OF PAIN

RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA have long enough run riot in the human system.

They have tormented the human family and baffled the medical faculty: from time out of memory they have corrupted the blood, demoralized the joints, fevered the nerves, agonized the muscles and racked the brain with wearying pain.

"ATHLOPHOROS" is the enemy of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, repairs their damages, renews the blood, eases the joints, calms the nerves, soothes the muscles, gives rest and peace to the troubled brain, and ensures delightful sleep.

"ATHLOPHOROS" is a new remedy, but it has been abundantly tried. From far and near come testimonials from well-known persons who had long been sufferers. It has turned their diseases out. It has cured them. That is all,—and that is enough.

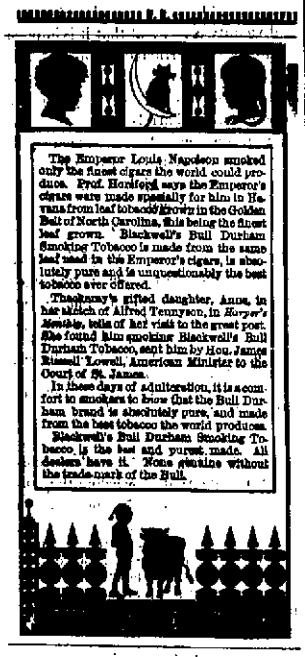

"ATHLOPHOROS" can do for you what it has done for these sufferers. It can drive out your Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and will do so if you give it a fair trial.

"ATHLOPHOROS" has by this time had such a good trial all over the country that its true work is known, and its true character proved.

"ATHLOPHOROS" means "Prize-Bearer;" "Victor;" "Conqueror." It carries off the prize as VICTOR over the attacks of those terrible maladies, and CONQUEROR of the frightful agonies their victims have endured. Not a mere temporary relief, but a permanent, enduring, and triumphant cure.

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 WALL ST., NEW YORK.

The Emperor Louis Napoleon smoked only the finest cigars the world could produce. Prof. Hornford says the Emperor's cigars were made specially for him in Havana from leaf tobacco grown in the Golden Belt of North Carolina, this being the finest leaf grown. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is made from the same leaf used in the Emperor's cigars, is absolutely pure and is unquestionably the best tobacco ever offered.

Thackeray's gifted daughter, Anne, in her sketch of Alfred Tennyson, in Harper's Monthly, tells of her visit to the great poet. She found him smoking Blackwell's Bull Durham Tobacco, sent him by Hon. James Russell Lowell, American Minister to the Court of St. James.

In these days of adulteration, it is a comfort to smokers to know that the Bull Durham brand is absolutely pure, and made from the best tobacco the world produces.

Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is the best and purest made. All dealers have it. None genuine without the trade-mark of the Bull.

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.

MARTYRED MEN.

Patriotic People of Fort Wayne Do Sacred Honor to the Soldier Dead,

And Cover Their Graves With the Tenderest Flowers of the Spring Time.

The Procession and Ceremonies at Lindenwood---Eloquent Oration.

Americans love their soldier dead and strive to perpetuate the memory of the brave men who died that the nation might live. This fraternal feeling is kindled anew at each recurrence of Decoration Day, and as the sun peeped over the earth this morning bright and clear, the breasts of many filled with emotion as they painted to their fancy departed loved ones sleeping in some battlefield or shady cemetery. Flags were displayed over buildings, and at noon most business was suspended that all might unite in doing honor to the martyrs of the nation. At one o'clock the procession began to form on West Main street, with the right resting on Calhoun street. At 2 o'clock the procession moved east on Main street to Barr, south on Barr to Berry and west on Berry street to Union and from Union to Main, thence to the Lindenwood cemetery. Chief Marshal F. F. Boltz, and his assistants C. A. Munson, Frank Falker, Chas. Reese, C. Hettler, C. B. Bickford and Ad Link headed the procession which marched off slowly in the following order:

FIRST DIVISION.

Police Force.
City Band.
College Cadets.
Commander and Staff of Sion S. Bass Post, G. A. R., mounted.
Past Post Commanders, mounted.
National and Department Officers, mounted.
Sion S. Bass Post, No. 40, G. A. R.
Fort Wayne Veteran Militia Company.
Artillery.

SECOND DIVISION.

Martial band.
Commander and staff of Anthony Wayne Post, G. A. R., mounted.
Past Post Commander, mounted.
National and department officers, mounted.
Anthony Wayne Post, No. 370, G. A. R.
Saengerbund.
Uniform Degree Camp of I. O. O. F.
Arion Society.
Uniform Rank of Knights of Pythias.
Schools and other organizations.

Following these came the president of the day, Hon. L. M. Ninde, Vice Presidents Hon. J. D. Barnhausen, D. S. Kell, W. D. Page and E. A. K. Hackett, the orator of the day, Hon. Montgomery Hamilton, Chaplain S. A. Northrup and citizens in carriages.

Arriving at the cemetery a hollow square was formed about the graves of Col. Sion S. Bass and Mrs. George, over whom short memorial services were performed, and the procession moved to the grand stand, when the festivities of the day began. Hon. L. N. Ninde made a brief but appropriate opening address and was followed by Rev. A. S. Northrup in prayer. Original poems were read and patriotic songs nicely rendered, after which Hon. Montgomery Hamilton, orator of the day, delivered the following eloquent memorial oration in a masterly style:

We meet to-day to pay our tribute of respect to the memory of those departed patriots and heroes who obeyed their country's call for help in the time of her peril, and risked their lives to maintain the union of these United States and to preserve and perpetuate the free institutions our fathers hath bequeathed us. And in commemorating their death we celebrate our nation's second birth; for they did not die in vain, but a stronger and more vigorous national life, and, we believe, a more enduring one, has arisen from their graves. This is not a day for sorrow or mourning.

In the years immediately succeeding the inauguration of this ceremony in which we now participate, there was necessarily an air of gloom and sadness about it. There were none among us who had not lost a friend. Our affliction was then too recent, our recollection of the lost too vivid, to permit us to think of aught else but the dead, or to call away our thoughts from the graves where we had so lately laid them. We could but think of the true and tried comrade, the affectionate friend, the devoted ally, the enthusiastic champion, snatched from us in the middle of the contest, while his desires were as warm and his hopes as eager as ours." And to all of us this day brought with it sad thoughts and was filled with remembrances of those who should never more gladden our eyes or rejoice our hearts with dear companionship. But as the years go by and time has somewhat healed the wound, while we do not forget the dead, we remember them with more subdued feelings, and the work they did, the good they helped to accomplish for us and for all time, becomes prominent in our minds. We think rather of the valor they displayed, of their enthusiasm in a noble cause, of their high courage and self-devotion; and we rejoice in the fame they have won as we note the honor a grateful country pays their memory and the reverence with which already a new generation is learning to regard their names.

"The glory dies not and the grief is past."

Their exploits are the themes of poets and historians, and their names have been added to the long roll of honor of our race.

As time rolls on and they fall away who were actors in these great events, and companions of these whose death this day commemorates, a new generation will remember but the glory which surrounds these graves and hallows the ground where heroes rest. Decoration Day will then be the celebration of a triumph, a day of rejoicing over the whole land, so long as valor is respected, self-sacrifice honored and patriotism held a virtue.

The memory of those who fell in defense of home and father-land will be none the less dear, and then fame will be but brighter as the years roll by. As the heroes of our elder wars have been to us, so shall these be to succeeding generations, and the observance of this day will keep prominent through ages to come the fame of those who won the fight for the Union—

"Their lives did not end when they yielded their breath,
Their glory illumines the gloom of the grave."

While human nature remains unchanged we have the universal experience of mankind to assure us that that time will never come, so long as "the heavens and earth which are now" continues, when a soldier's valor will not win admiration or the heroes of a just war fail of honor.

We are accustomed to hear from every pulpit and from every platform denunciations of war. It is called a relic of barbarism; a legacy to us from savage ancestors; a disgrace to our civilization; a reproach to our professed christianity. This is the tone of the popular cant of the day, and few there are bold enough to venture to oppose it.

While there may not indeed be many who would acknowledge no reason sufficient, no cause true and holy enough to justify an appeal to arms, or who would proclaim all war to be but murder, yet it is becoming popular to profess to believe that fully enlightened and truly civilized man—a state which the race is supposed to be nearing—shall never more submit to the arbitrament of battle or settle disputes between nations with bloody hands, and that

"War in man's eyes shall be
A monster of iniquity
In the good times coming."

Preacher, poet and economist unite in denouncing the wickedness, the hideousness and the wastefulness of war, and join in the confident hope that as men become wiser and better, arms will be forever laid aside and the peaceful arts never more be disturbed by the din of battle. This is supposed to be the hope of every philanthropist, the expectation of every Christian. But, while human nature remains what universal experience declares it to be, have we any reason to expect that this hope will be realized? And may it be permitted to us to inquire is this hope a good one? Would a state of continued and universal peace be beneficial to the race? Would it tend, to weaken the evil and strengthen the good there is in man and bring again that golden age,

"When faith was kept and worth was crowned,
Ere friendship proved a name or love grown cold?"

Does history, or revelation either, teach us to expect such a result? What has ever been the most prominent characteristics of the great races of the world? To which, the warlike or the peaceful, is mankind most indebted? Where have art and science flourished? Where has liberty made her home? What people have produced the great minds, which have pointed the way to a higher life and led men onward and upward? The answer is written on every page of history, the warrior races are the great ones of the world. Those first in war have ever been first in all the arts of peace. As valor decays—and no human virtue can long retain its vigor unused and untried—the race deteriorates. As the soldier disappears, the poet, the artist, the philosopher and the statesman pass away. This is the verdict of universal experience; this is the unmistakable teaching of history.

The representatives to-day of that mighty people which reared the pyramids and recorded their victories in the living rock, an imperishable memorial of their martial prowess—a people who gave to the western world the alphabet and the beginning of all our arts—the Coptic race in Egypt, exhibits the very type of a peaceful nation, with all the submission and determination of a martyr, willingly suffering all that tyranny can inflict rather than yield one point of their faith or strike one blow for freedom—a passive looker-on to-day while Saxon and Arab contend for the possession of their land.

The Greek, who trained the human mind to a perfection of thought and expression, since unrivalled in any age or race; counted it long line of contentions and war-loving ancestors, and during the time of their pre-eminent vigor and activity were engaged in almost constant fightings. The artist, the poet, and the philosopher of Greece, who have been the models of all succeeding generations, whose works are the canons of criticism, wrought amid the clang of arms and under the enthusiasm of victorious conflict.

Roman valor and Roman virtue, flourished and declined together. When each citizen was a soldier, when each year saw the legions go forth to new wars and return to new triumphs Rome steadily progressed in every thing which makes a state great and a people vigorous and strong. Then she showed herself worthy to be the mistress of the world. Then were laid the foundations of that judicial system which preserved, through ages of disorder, the ideas of right and justice, of law and order. There arose a succession of noble men, models to all time of patriotism and public virtue, of intrepid valor and unswerving justice.

"What's brave, what's noble,
Let's do it after the high Roman fashion
And make death proud to take us."

But as the bounds of the empire were extended, as the necessity of protecting home and family ceased, when the field of battle was far removed, the Roman put off his armor and leaving to barbarian mercenaries the task of protecting the distant boundaries, gave himself up to the enjoyment of the place he had won. A few generations pass and the descendants of those at whose names the world grew pale are sunken in luxury and idleness. Degrading vices and crimes of monstrous shape have fatally corrupted one of the noblest races of mankind and they are become the easy prey of the barbarian invader.

Is the rude soldier of the early republic, stern and cruel though he was and ruthless to a conquered foe, or the polished sybarite of the empire the nobler man?

Can we contrast the savage German, who found his chief delight in battle and carnage, with the refined and peace-loving Roman, as they appear in the pages of Tacitus and Juneval, and doubt with whom is the hope of coming years? While the Spaniard was defending his mountain refuge and while he was winning back his inheritance from the infidel invader, he was one of nature's noblest works. No story is grander or more full of golden deeds and lives well lived than the struggle of Christian and Moor. The impulse given by that victorious conflict was not spent till a new world had been formed and subdued and the flag of Spain set up in the uttermost corners of the world. For a brief time Spain stood without a rival, first in arms and first in all the arts of civilized life. But "Cervantes smiled Spain's chivalry away," and with martial ardor died out all that was strong and noble in the race.

If we believe that there has been no radical change in human nature and that we are and our children will be men of like passions with our fathers, then history teaches us neither to expect nor to desire a state of uninterrupted peace and and entire freedom from war's alarms.

We worship the Lord of Hosts, the God of Armies. "It is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves. He doeth according to his will among the inhabitants of earth." We may trace His purpose in history, even though it be but as in a glass darkly. He declared His will to His chosen people and according to His promises to Israel, so have been His dealings with the nations since. The God whom the patriarchs and and prophets' worshipped did not condemn war and He changes not. It was our God who taught the psalmist's hands to war, who "girded him with strength unto the battle," who "subdued under him those who rose up against him." It was the "Lord, strong and mighty, the Lord, mighty in battle," to whom David sang songs of praise for victory.

We see the same causes operating and the same results ensuing in sacred as in profane history. When the chosen people are strong and full of martial order, when great captains lead their armies and victory crowns their banners, they worshiped and served the Lord and diligently kept his commandments. So long as they refused to make a league with the nations around them, but maintained a state of continual hostility, they were preserved from temptation and kept pure and uncorrupted. But every period of prolonged peace was inevitably followed by apostacy. It needed the discipline of war, the strengthening effect of constant struggle to keep Israel obedient to the Divine law.

As God's blessing rested of old and is now on those nations which preserve their virtue and true manhood, as a long course of peace and prosperity has enervated every people, weakening their power to resist not only a human enemy but also the allurements of vice, which ease and luxury beget and strengthen, we may reasonably conclude that the Ruler of the universe does not intend a reign of universal peace on the unregenerated earth; or, if He decrees such a state for man as now constituted, it will not be in mercy and as a blessing, but as the ushering in of the great and terrible day of the Lord.

That the time shall come when the nations shall learn wars no more, when "the sword shall be beaten into a plowshare and the spear into a pruning-hook" is indeed the hope and confident expectation of every Christian. But we look for this blessed state only in the last days, under new heavens and on a new and purified earth. That happy age, when the wolf shall dwell with the lamb and the leopard lie down with the kid, shall come when He shall return whose right it is to reign, and shall establish a kingdom wherein there shall be nothing unclean, where no one who loveth or maketh a lie can enter.

When man's nature shall be changed as radically as the lion's must be before it can eat hay like an ox, or the cockatrice's, before a child may safely put his hand in its den, then will he be able to bear, and then will he enjoy the full blessings of perfect peace. When the former things have passed away and all things are become new, man's time of trial and discipline will be over. But for our present state neither human experience nor Divine revelation teaches us to consider war as only a curse, or peace as the greatest blessing.

While sin remains in the world, while man is moved to rob, oppress or injure his fellow-man, so long as hate, jealousy, fear and anger rule our minds and influence our actions, wars will not cease, and I would not pray that God should make them cease. While man is wrapped up in self, while heaping up riches is the one desirable and commendable action, when the pupils servant betrays his trust, when the legislator receives bribes and the freeman barters his franchise, while combinations are formed to oppress the poor and rob the public, while all mankind is rushing along blindly in the mad race after riches, unmindful of all save the one end in view, I am thankful there is such an event as war.

Until the world becomes far purer than it now is or ever has been since history began to record men's actions, until true worth is honored, until all wrongs are righted, vice hated, crime repressed and selfishness despised, I trust that the sword may ever be ready to be drawn and the spear kept bright for its old work. "A just war," a great historian has said, "of all human employments, is one which most calls out whatever nobleness there is in man."

But aside from all question of the good or evil war may have wrought in the world, we may be sure that a brave people will never be brought to regard it with entire aversion or to look upon a soldier as but a necessary evil. Despite all that moralists may say there is to every one and especially to bold and ardent spirits an attraction in the "pomp and glorious circumstance of War." They, in whose nature those qualities predominate, which we most admire and covet, courage, high spirits, hopefulness, love of glory, find their true calling in a soldier's life and we may not say that such men are less useful than the steady plodders in peaceful ways.

There is more in life than mere money making. There are aspirations of the soul which are not satisfied by the maxims of political economy.

The soldier who has but left as a legacy to the world an example of valor and devotion to his flag, has done more for humanity than many who have won power and fame by peaceful means but have failed to leave a good name behind them. There is in every breast a responsive feeling to that eager thirst for glory, that disregard for life and contempt of life's ordinary pleasures which an ardent soldier feels. Who has not felt his eye kindle and his pulse beat quicker at the tale of some glorious achievement in war, of some deed of valor done on the battle field? Who has not felt at times that

"One crowded hour of glorious strife
Is worth an age without a name?"

And who will dare to say that such feelings are evidences of a lower nature? That they are unworthy of refined and humane minds? May we not rather call them heaven-bestowed instincts, the natural impulses of generous hearts and noble characters? They who are moved by such feelings will not the less easily resist the more common temptations of this money-loving age than more cold and unsympathetic natures. Brave spirits have their failings and are subject to many temptations, but honor dwells with courage. And it would be well for the world if we could inspire this time with some of that love of honor and dread of disgrace which was so potent a factor in what we, in our enlightment, call the dark ages.

We honor those whose graves we have this day wreathed with flowers, not only for their patriotism and ready obedience to their country's call; not only for the blessings they secured to us and our posterity; but also that they were brave and noble men. The high courage and determined bravery, the patient endurance and manly fortitude, the moderation in victory and calmness in defeat, which so notably distinguished the soldiers of both North and South, assured us that the race has lost nothing of its vigor in this new home, and that our times can supply examples of true manhood fit for a place beside the ancient worthies. And it is the part of wisdom for us, who are responsible for the right training of those who shall hereafter take our places, to thus pay respect and reverence to these brave men and to hold them up as bright examples, that they who shall follow us may be incited to strive to win like fame and honor.

"Who would ever care to do brave deeds,
Or strive in virtue others to excel,
If none should yield him his deserved meed—
Due praise—that is the spur of doing well."

The governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina: "Sir, the best remedy in the world is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup," and the latter seconded the assertion.

CRANKY CUSHMAN.

The Northwestern Umpire Slugged by a Vicious Kid—The Lad Rescued From Two St. Paul Duffers—The Visitors Appeal to the Police for Protection.

The base ball game yesterday wound up in a blaze of excitement. C. H. Cushman, the umpire, made a few rank decisions against the Fort Wayne club and was hooted by the audience and some one in the north stand spoke a little louder than others. Cushman walked to the stand and picked out the smallest kid there. He ordered the officer to remove him or he would give the game to the St. Paul club. The boy was let out of one gate and right in another. Cushman next ordered Officer John O'Connell off the ground and then spied Bob Smith sitting beside the scorer. Mr. Smith was ordered off the ground. This display of importance thoroughly disgusted every one with Cushman. After the game Cushman walked out and was promptly slugged by the lad, Harry Carpenter, whom he ordered off the grounds. Cushman was rendered senseless and taken to the Aveline house in a carriage. Two St. Paul men, not participants in yesterday's game, ran after Carpenter and arrested him. They were proudly marching him to jail when Fort Wayne people interfered and let the boy go, but not before the lad was given an opportunity to strike the Minnesota corn huskers. Last night the St. Paul men appealed to Chief Diehl for police protection. Councilman A. Wolf was at the station house, and he told the St. Paul people to go to bed, and sleep off their halucinations. Mr. Wolf informed the players that Fort Wayne was an orderly city, but its policemen could not be detailed for the special protection of officious ball tossers, who would not be molested if they attended to their own business.

THE COMEDY OF ERRORS.

The Fort Wayne Somnambulists Lose the First Game With the St. Paul's—Other League Games.

The lovers of the national sport are getting pretty tired of the queer game of ball played by the Fort Wayne club. The last three games were given away with impunity by the Summit City somnambulists whom a fine or two might wake up. Yesterday Brown pitched a good game of ball but could not overcome the nine costly errors made by his team. The St. Paul's can not play ball and should not have won a game here.

The following score is official from Louis Schroeder:

Palpitation or rapid beating of the heart followed by periods of complete cessation, is caused chiefly by nervousness and bad blood. If the disease is neglected it is liable to result seriously, especially at a time of sudden excitement. Purify the blood, strengthen the muscular and nervous system, governing the heart, by using Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, and you will soon be rid of every trace of the affection.

Brooks & Dickson have leased the Academy of Music for next season and Manager Woodworth will book attractions. There will be lively competition between the Temple and Academy and the lovers of the drama and song will have an opportunity to see the best theatrical people on the road.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE SURE CURE

FOR

KIDNEY DISEASES,
LIVER COMPLAINTS,
CONSTIPATION, PILES,
AND BLOOD DISEASES.

PHYSICIANS ENDORSE IT HEARTILY.

"Kidney-Wort is the most successful remedy I ever used." Dr. P. C. Baltzly, Mendon, Vt.

"Kidney-Wort is always reliable." Dr. E. N. Clark, So. Hero, Vt.

"Kidney-Wort has cured my wife after two years suffering." Dr. C. M. Summerlin, Sun Hill, Ga.

IN THOUSANDS OF CASES it has cured where all else had failed. It is mild, but efficient, CERTAIN IN ITS ACTION, but harmless in all cases.

IT Is eleansing the Blood and Strengthens and gives New Life to all the important organs of the body. The natural action of the Kidneys is restored. The Liver is cleansed of all disease, and the Bowels move freely and healthfully. In this way the worst diseases are eradicated from the system.

A horse belonging to Will McKinnie, and driven by his hostler, became frightened at noon and twisted the vehicle to which it was attached out of shape.

Lo Hoy, a prominent Chinaman of San Francisco, Cal., suffered for eight years with rheumatism. He was drawn up and crippled, he says, but St. Jacobs Oil, the conqueror of pain, cured him in a few applications.

Mr. Henry Colerick this morning argued the motion for a new trial before Judge Hench in the Boyle case in the criminal court. The decision in the case will be rendered Monday.

A remedy resting on the basis of intrinsic worth demands the confidence of all. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is known and used most satisfactorily throughout the land, as is attested by its great sales. Your druggist keeps it.

The first voters of the Eighth Ward Democratic club will run an excursion to Rome City on Saturday, June 21. This will be the cheapest excursion of the season, the fare being placed at $1 for the round trip, including refreshments and dancing. 29-tf.

Dr. Prior, of 18 East Columbia street, sent a very elegant lot of flowers to decorate the graves of our dead soldiers. The Dr. was an assistant surgeon in the late war, from New York state, and appreciates the feelings of friends who lost members of their families in the struggle for freedom.

Many of the bitters and quack nostrums of the day are also advertised for consumption on the plan that the only thing that the stuff wont cure is the avaricious, ignoble grief of the proprietor. Don't be deceived. The best remedy for strengthening the lungs, soothing all irritation, and stopping the cough, is Dr. Wistar's Balsam of wild cherry. It has cured many cases where physicians had given up hope.

A rumor reached the Wabash employes here last night that the pay car would not come for three months yet. This incited a disposition to strike and the prospects are that the men will demand their pay and may quit work if it is not forthcoming.

Blessings come in many forms, and sometimes in disguise, but Athlophoros, the new and successful specific for neuralgia and rheumatism, comes to perform exactly what is promised for it—to limber stiffened joints and reinvigorate the action of the muscles swollen by disease. Mr. A. B. Davenport, of 367 Fulton street, Brooklyn, N. Y., who suffered from rheumatism for a long time, writes: "Your medicine has proved to me an invaluable blessing."

Notice.

The market stalls and stands will be rented to the highest bidder on June 3, 1884, at 9 o'clock a. m., in accordance with the provisions of chapter 26, section 8. MARTIN SCHRAM, Market Master.

Letter From Assemblyman Hoag.

STATE OF NEW YORK, ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, ALBANY, April, 13.

During my temporary residence here the past winter, I contracted a severe cold, which for a time confined me to my room and rendered me unfit to attend to my duties. I not only suffered all the inconveniences which usually attend a heavy cold, but was afflicted with a tightness in the chest, accompanied with a severe pain, which made breathing difficult and rest impossible. I tried the usual remedies—enough drops cough cordials, etc., but received no substantial relief until I applied Allcock's Porous Plasters, on my back and chest.

These I put on when retiring, and was delighted to find myself much better the next morning. In two days I was well. This, and the experience I have had with Allcock's Plasters in my family, has convinced me that for coughs, colds, sprains, bruises, rheumatism and local pains, Allcock's Porous Plasters are the quickest and most effective remdy extant. JOHN HOAG.

The City Hospital Fair.

The Academy was packed last night and the ladies in charge of the hospital fair coaxed a bushel of dimes from the pockets of visitors. Dr. M. F. Porter was the only one in the walking match, and he has a sure thing on the dictionary.

Theodore Thieme, the druggist, drew a pair of silver vases, and Professor Reinecke, as the most popular musician, was voted a silver napkin ring and stand.

Voting for the most popular lady teacher at the close last night stood: Miss Strong, 224; Miss Diggins, 194; Miss Woodward, 32; Miss Sinclair 2; Miss Carroll, 83.

The most popular bachelors have the following votes: Ad Link, 10; H. J. Meyer, 1; Ed Orff, 1; R Van Fleet, 1; H. I. Friend, 6; Arthur Hill, 2; Will Ferguson, 2.

Of the most popular lawyers, Chas. H. Aldrich has 30 votes; R. C. Bell, 10; W. G. Colerick, 10; M. L. Graff, 5.

W. D. Page heads the list as the most popular newspaper man, having 43 votes.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate for Nervousness, Indigestion, etc.

Send to the Rumford Chemical Works, Providence, R. I., for pamphlet. Mailed free.

Marshal Meyer and his deputies kept everything in an orderly manner to-day.

In the Hop Plasters the virtues of fresh hops are combined with strengthening and stimulating balsams, and its cures of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism, neuralgia or pain in the chest are simply marvelous, it being more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedies. You'll say so after using.

The superior court has adjourned until June 2.

Cream and Cold Weather.

What a luxury is a bath in summer. Surely, but a greater luxury is a clear head in winter, just when almost everybody is sneezing and snuffling with a cold in the head. But when you are attacked use Ely's Cream Balm. It cures colds in the head, and what is better, it cures the worse cases of chronic catarrh and hay fever. Not a liquid, not a stuff Pleasant to use. Quick relief. Radical cure.

Fully 5,000 people viewed the procession as it passed this afternoon.

Incredulity exists, but nobody has been heard to deny the wholesomeness and purifying effects of Glenn's Sulphur Soap.

Physicians attest: "Colden's Liquid Beef Tonic is particularly useful in Diphtheria, Fever and every depressing disease."

A special train will run from New York to Chicago next Sunday. The passengers, all delegates, will dine at the McKinnie house.

Would You Believe It.

Nature's great remedy, Kidney Wort, has cured many obstinate cases of piles. This most distressing malady generally arises from constipation and a bad condition of the bowels. Kidney-Wort acts at the same time as a cathartic and a healing tonic, removes the cause, cures the disease and promotes a healthy state of the affected organs. James F. Moyer, carriage man'fr of Myerstown, Pa., testifies to the great healing powers of Kidney-Wort, having been cured by it of a very bad case of piles which for years had refused to yield to any other remedy.
